PLASTIC RECYCLING

Water and soda bottles, laundry and milk jugs, are most acceptable.

Plastic bags and film are NOT for CURB recycling.

Types #1 and #2

Contact your recycling hauler to find out if they accept plastic yogurt containers or other materials.

Plastic shopping bags may be recycled at many of your local supermarkets.

You can find out where to recycle film by going to <https://www.plasticfilmrecycling.org/>.

Bucks County Recycling

At a recent Bucks County Planning Commission meeting, there was discussion about the contamination issues in recycling, especially plastic.

When non-recyclable materials are collected with acceptable items, it wastes resources, as these contaminants often end up as trash. The list of acceptable recyclable materials varies by collection services and municipal ordinances, and residents should be made aware of all recyclable materials accepted by their hauler.

In addition, the BCPC staff continually develops their Maps and Data portal on the Bucks County website. They recently added the 2019 schedule for the regional Household Hazardous Waste events, and two recycling video messages. You can find this information at:

<http://dataportal-bucksgis.opendata.arcgis.com/>

We prefer that residents always refer to the Bucks County website, Maps and Data Portal, for any county-wide Hazardous Household Waste and Recycling Information to get the latest information. Find more information at:

<http://www.buckscounty.org/government/PlanningCommission/Recycling>

Advanced Disposal accepts the following types of recyclable materials: clear glass; colored glass; newsprint (including newspaper inserts, junk mail, and telephone books); aluminum cans; steel cans; bimetallic cans; non-corrugated cardboard; and #1 through #7 plastics.

Advanced Disposal collects recyclable materials the same day as trash collection.

Once collected, they take recyclables to a processing facility that follows federal, state, and county guidelines.

Why is stormwater an issue?

Stormwater runoff can carry trash, nutrients, bacteria, chemicals, sediment and other pollutants through the storm drain system, to creeks, streams, or lakes that are used for swimming, fishing, and as a drinking water supply.

Sediment clouds the water and makes it difficult for aquatic plants to grow; it can destroy aquatic habitat.

Nutrients can cause algae blooms. When algae die, they sink and decompose in a process that removes oxygen from the water. Fish and other organisms cannot exist in water with low oxygen levels.

Bacteria and other pathogens washed into swimming areas can create health hazards.

Trash items such as plastic bags, cans, bottles, and cigarette butts washed into creeks, streams, or lakes, can choke, suffocate, or disable aquatic life like ducks, fish, turtles, and birds.

Hazardous household products such as insecticides, pesticides, paint, solvents, and used motor oil can poison aquatic life.

Polluted stormwater can affect drinking water sources.

Things you can do to prevent stormwater runoff pollution:

- Keep all litter off the street and place it in receptacles so that it does not get washed down the storm drains.

- Service your car regularly to prevent gasoline, oil, anti-freeze and brake and transmission fluids from leaking onto the pavement and washing into our streams.

- Place dog waste in a trash can. Do not leave it on your yard, in the street or place it in a storm drain. Pet waste can introduce disease-causing bacteria into our water supply.

- Use fertilizers and herbicides sparingly and only when necessary. Follow the directions on the package. Use organic fertilizer and do not use before heavy rain events.

- Vegetate or mulch any bare areas in your yard. Plant roots guard soil from rain and prevent erosion.

- Set your mower's height at 3 inches. Taller grass absorbs more stormwater.

- Use absorbent materials such as cat litter or rags to soak up any spills, then sweep up and dispose of the items properly. Do not use water from a hose to "water down" the spill.

- Choose water based paints and wash brushes in the sink with water.

- Reuse and recycle paint thinner. Do not pour it down the sink or drain. Take it to a local household hazardous waste disposal center.

For any questions or concerns regarding stormwater or to report an illicit discharge to the storm sewer system, please call the Borough at 215-822-7295.
